

The Coefficient Transcript

This means that the regression coefficient for High School GPA is the slope of the relationship between the part of HSPGA that is independent of (uncorrelated with) the other predictor variable and the criterion variable. It represents the change in the criterion variable associated with a change of one in the predictor variable when all other predictor variables are held constant.