

Statistics

Example 1: Ice Cream

A major flaw is that ice cream consumption generally increases during the months of June, July, and August regardless of advertisements.

This effect is called a history effect and leads people to interpret outcomes as the result of one variable when another variable, in this case, one having to do with the passage of time, is actually responsible.